DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-83 are pending and subject to the following restriction requirement.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-31 and 37-56, drawn to a cryogenically protected viral delivery system comprising a vessel, a protective agent and virally infected cells, classified in class 424, subclass 204.1.
  - II. Claims 32-36, drawn to a mixture of host cells and host cells infected with virus, classified in class 435, subclass 325.
  - III. Claims 56-75, drawn to a method of infecting cells, classified in class 435, subclass 5.
  - IV. Claims 76-83, drawn to a method of selecting virally infected cells, classified in class 435, subclass 5.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

a) Inventions I and II are distinct products. In the instant case the product of Group I is drawn to a vessel containing infected cells. These products are related in that the use of one product may result in the product of Group II. However, the product can be made with other reagents and does not require the product of Group I for its production. Further, the components of the two products differ in that Group I contains a vessel and a protective agent. Group II is only host cells and infectious virus. These two products are distinct.

Art Unit: 1648

b) Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product of Group I can be used in an assay to identify drugs that inhibit viral growth.

c) Inventions I and IV are unrelated. The method of Group IV, selecting virally infected cells, does not require the product of Group I.

d) Inventions II and III are related as process of making and product made. Group III is drawn to a method of infecting cells, and the Group II is drawn to a mixture of host cells and infected host cells. The host cell mixture can be obtained by another method such as mixing host cells with infectious virus. It is not necessary to follow the method steps of Group III in order to arrive at a mixture of infected host cells.

e) Inventions II and IV could be related as product and process of use, although not disclosed as such. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product could be used in a method of identifying drugs that inhibit viral growth.

f) Inventions III and IV are unrelated. The method of infecting cells does not require the method of selecting virally infected cells.

Art Unit: 1648

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the literature search required for one group is not co-extensive for any other group, and therefore a serious burden of search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

3. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86

(March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
